

Lib Dems Screw-up again

You would think, judging by their name, that the new leader of the 'Liberal Democrats' might just respect democracy.

No such luck.

Writing in the Mail on Sunday, their new leader, Vince Cable, said that older people who had voted for Brexit had "comprehensively shafted the young" and "they had become self-declared martyrs".

Cable's disgraceful comments show how out of touch, narrow minded and bigoted Lib Dems are. He needs to reflect on what a martyr really is and remind himself that both "young and old" are actually "Shafted" by the likes of Messrs Juncker and Barnier.

He also gives no indication that he has noticed that many people, whether "old" or not, voted for a better future. Not just for their country but also for future generations - and that there are plenty of "young" people who voted for this as well.

Cable's sad attempts to win back young voters is a political ploy. It merely accentuates those elements in our society that continue to undermine last year's vote, and who are using the summer to try to gain political capital.

Some in Whitehall (the Telegraph reports) are trying to 'ram through' a £36 billion Brexit divorce bill while Mrs. May and other Eurosceptics are on holiday.

Such moves will be met with fierce opposition. We have paid, in today's money, over £200 billion to the EU and its predecessors by the time we leave. Any 'divorce bill' has no standing in law. We are up against the powers of those conspiring to derail Brexit that we all voted for.

1. What sort of 'behind the scenes' wheeler-dealing goes on between parts of our Civil Service and Messrs. Juncker's and Barnier's offices, for which you and I pay dearly with our taxes/Vat ?
2. What is 'planted' into the EU's Media Grant, for the BBC to meticulously follow without question ?

It's up to us all to launch counter-offensives against the illiberal anti-democrats.

Vince Cable also accused Leavers of "being nostalgic about the past".

Well, there's nothing 'nostalgic' about the last 40 years or so of the iron rule of Brussels and their 'Pay and Obey' ruling system.

Thank heavens we get out of it in March 2019. Then, we can all be nostalgic for our future.

What a stupid, but dangerous, man Cable is!
