

Skulduggery in London

Leader, Gerard Batten MEP, highlights secret meetings attended by Tory 'Brexit rebel in chief' Dominic Grieve. Gerard said, "it is clear we have a co-ordinated effort at the heart of Westminster to betray Brexit".

His comments came after it was revealed former Attorney General Dominic Grieve - the man behind attempts in Westminster to derail Brexit - attended a meeting of committed Remainers held at EU's London headquarters. Others included Tony Blair's former spin doctor, Alistair Campbell; Tory and Lib Dem peers, and representatives of several 'remain' groups all seeking to overturn the 2016 referendum.

Speaking from Strasbourg, Mr Batten said, "it defies belief for Dominic Grieve to try to claim he is not working towards stopping the UK leaving the EU. Hours after his latest attempts to derail the UK's Brexit negotiations in Westminster, he just happens to be meeting with individuals and groups committed to overturning the referendum result."

"This is like a rerun of 1972 when an unholy alliance of Tory, Labour and Liberal MPs manoeuvred the House of Commons into taking us into the European Economic Community. Now, forty-six years later, we are in grave danger of seeing the same thing in reverse. Mr Grieve's attendance at this meeting, proves his true intention to overturn Brexit and keep the UK in the European Union."

"Equally worrying is the EU's involvement in this cabal seeking to subvert democracy. Allowing their London headquarters to be used to hold this meeting, the EU have once and for all proved they are providing resources to groups meddling in Britain's democratic process."

"We have always suspected that 'an enemy within' was working towards overturning the people's vote to leave the EU. It is increasingly evident that the efforts are highly organised and co-ordinated throughout the establishment.

"Subverting democracy is a dangerous game. Far from changing the public's mind, the continuation of 'project fear' and backroom dealing, has only polarised opinion, making people even more determined to leave the corrupt and damaging EU project.

"If the Referendum result is overturned, it will destroy all trust in the public for our democratic system."

"If MPs such as Chuka Umunna and Anna Soubry believe the creation of a new pro-remain political party helps their cause, they are sadly mistaken. We already have three pro-remain parties in Westminster. Yet outside of London, the people remain resolute behind the referendum result."
