Gerard Batten, UKIP Brexit spokesperson, condemned the Prime Minister's speech in Florence and issued a call to arms for those who voted for the UK to regain its independence.

"After fifteen months of doing nothing, she has revealed her desired outcome. Her intention is for us to leave the EU in name but not in reality."

"Her 'vision' is for Britain to be an EU satellite state such as Poland was to the old Soviet Union. She has made concession after concession and received nothing in return."

"These include to continue freedom of movement, continue jurisdiction by European courts in the UK, continue payment of £billions a year to the EU, and continue capitulation to the demands of an EU which does not want a mutually advantageous deal with the UK".

"The idea of a new Treaty on Security and Defence signals The UK being part of a future EU Army, something clearly against the wishes of the British public".

"In addition, it is clear from her position whilst Home Secretary that we will be keeping the police and criminal justice measures including the invidious European Arrest Warrant".

"UKIP will be invigorated to continue its fight to take Britain out of the EU and make us an independent nation once again".

"The fight resumes."
